

Nursery newsletter

20.10.23

- We are so proud of the children's performance to the grandparents on Wednesday, they were fabulous!
- Unfortunately there will only be a few appointments available for nursery Parents Evening on Wed 1st Nov, but all the slots are available for Thursday 2nd to book online, please see me if you are unable to get a slot
- Well done to the 7 children who have learnt to put their coats on and do up their zips all by themselves, good job! 😊
- Half term is 23rd to 27th October
- Unfortunately, we had no response to the request for old keys etc. so if you could widen the search and ask grandparents and friends if they have anything it would be greatly appreciated
- If you happen to have a clear-out of good quality toys, children's furniture, dressing up etc over half term we are always happy to take it off your hands!

Topic first week back : Fireworks

We will look at the colours, smells, shapes and sounds that come with bonfire night. We will look at some fireworks displays on our IWB and then try to mimic the sounds with percussion instruments and draw shapes in the air and on the big board to mimic them (spirals, zig-zags etc). We will make our own colourful 'fireworks' to hang in the classroom and we'll create beautiful pictures with fluorescent paints and glitter on black paper.

Things to do at home over half term...

Please help your child to be able to:

- put on and do up their coats independently as they will be taking them on and off constantly throughout Autumn and Winter
- pull their coat sleeves out when they are inside out!
- put on mittens independently. Please no gloves unless you have taught your child to put them on themselves, as you can appreciate it is impossible for us to put 50 gloves on 250 tiny fingers as they constantly move from inside to outside throughout the day!!

The aim of the Early Years curriculum is to make the children as independent as possible 😊

Have a lovely half term break!
